Salisbury Scribblings Old Glory Floats

Tuesday was a day long to be remembered in Salisbury. All the forenoon the clouds, full of water hung over the city, and at times poured out their garnered fullness, causing all to seek shelter. The registering booths opened up on time and all day long a stream of young, but determined looking men, came pouring in to register until at the close 233 had said by enrollment "Here we are Uncle Sam." There were no slackers and no protests. Patriotism and enthusiasm could be seen and heard on every side. About one o'clock crowds began to gather on Broadway, and two hours later, something like one thousand people had assembled near 2nd and Broadway, where it was said the flag would be erected. Word was passed around that the flag and steel pole, 70 feet high, would be in on No. 2 and the ceremonies would begin. No. 2 came in with the pole but no flag. This was disappointment number one. It was then given out that the flag was on number twelve, and would arrive at 4:36. The crowd took these delays good naturedly, and began to "mill around" on the street and wait. At 4:36 it was announced that number twelve was one hour late. Here was disappointment number two, but all that could be done was grin and bear, or swear at it the ladies taking the first horn of the dilemma. Finally at 5:30 the flag arrived, and in a few moments was at the foot of the beautiful pole which was to elevate it. The band stand was rolled in position, the new band master mounted it, and with his bugle call gathered his companions, and the program was on. One patriotic tune was rendered and then the school children, lead by the band with soft music, sang beautifully "Our Country 'Tis of Thee", and followed it up with "The Star Spangled Banner", just as old glory went creeping up the pole, and when her graceful folds spread out on the breeze, the cheers of the multitude were almost deafening. On account of the lateness of the hour, the speaking and other part of the program had to be omitted, but the day was a success, and those who promoted it deserve great credit, but none more so than Hon. Roy W. McKittrick, who was both soul and spirit of the enterprise, ably assisted by all the rest. Our hat is off to Old Glory as she now floats about our city at the corner of 2nd and Broadway.

There is a spirit of improvement all over town, painting, papering, new roofs, porches, etc. from one end of the town to the other. It looks like old times.

Salt on Streets, Lessens Dust

Common coarse salt, when properly applied to dirt roads, quite successfully allays dust during the dry months of summer. The scheme has been tried in many places, and among them the little village of Belleville, Pa. where it obviates the need of street sprinkling. At this particular town the salt is scattered over the road surface with the aid of a lime spreader. The natural affinity of calcium chloride, which is present in salt for moisture keeps the village thoroughfares fairly free from dust even during very dry periods. The material is applied at intervals of about six weeks at a comparatively low cost. To obtain good results, however, it is necessary that the salt should have an opportunity to become thoroughly mixed with the dirt before encountering a heavy rain.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Synopsis of Sunday Morning Sermon—Baptist Church

Rev. Harris took for his text 1 John 3:17—"He that seeth his brother have need etc. (Preached by special request of Chariton County Red Cross Society).

Jesus saw our needs and without waiting for us to call him to service responded to our needs with his life. In the great day when Jesus says depart ye cursed—he will not say I told you I was hungry or thirsty or sick, but ye saw me hungry, ye saw me naked etc. Blessed are your eyes if they see.

Heaven Europe is today looking to Christian America for a picture of Christ. See his likeness in the beatitudes. Speaking of Blessed are the merciful he referred to the case of the good Samaritan, acting it out on the stage, then said the Red Cross is a good Samaritan. The women have since the birth of Christ been the instigators of everything good. He pointed out their services in cyclones, in war and general distresses.

As Dorcas was full of good deeds and is held in Sweet memories; as Mary did what she could and where ever the gospel is preached will have the story told as a memorial of her, so she who gives a cup of cold water to a sufferer regardless of nation or color, will fix an eye heavenward and shall never lose her reward but shall have a crown of gold. Mr. Harris grew humorous as he spoke of the long faced christianity. Then closed his fifty minute speech with a story of a basket dinner where some small boys were sent on an errand and returned after dinner time. On being told the food which had been so plentiful had been consumed, one little boy cried, but the other said, "Is my mother waiting tables?" "Yes" was the answer. Then said the boy, "I'll have something."

I fancy I see our brave boys in the battle. Some in hospitals. The nurse approaches one at last and says "young man the Red Cross of America has sent all the food and bandages they could but so many of you are crippled I fear they will not go around." One boy with bleeding wounds and broken arm raises on his elbow and asks "Is my mother a member of the Red Cross?" and the answer is yes. "Then I shall have bandage and food." As our boys look to us for all we are able to do for them, just so God's children look to him knowing he is more willing to give to us than we to our children.

Realizing the wolves in his own family, Absalom, Amnon, and others, also those in his nation, and noting his care of sheep in early life he said, "The Lord is my shepherd I shall not want—". Be not dismayed what ere betide God will take care of you. Beneath his wings of love abide, God will take care of you.
